itelligence CeBIT innovation: itelligence shows SAP's new A1 mySAP ERP 2005 basis as a hands-on version

Bielefeld, March 15, 2007 – A package of the new SAP software put together for SMEs is being shown by the itelligence, the IT full-service provider for SAP at the CeBIT 2007, in Hanover. In Hall 4, D38 itelligence is showing the industry solution "SAP All-in-One for Component Manufacturers" as one of the first SAP partners in a practical example.

The new version of mySAP All-in-One provides several innovations at once. In terms of technology, it is based on mySAP ERP 2005 and its service-oriented architecture (SOA) creates the conditions for a rapid alignment to existing IT systems. But the new software also offers more functions from the very start. The solutions package for industry thus includes a CRM system aligned for SMEs at no additional price. In this way, customer service and management, in connection with all current SAP data, become the affordable standard also for SMEs.

Dr. Andreas Pauls, itelligence AG Sales Manager: "SAP All-in-One for Component Manufacturers itelligence underlines SME expertise. With this industry solution for the smaller companies, itelligence accesses new customer groups which we had not been able to address on a broad basis with previous solutions."
