Bielefeld, July 24, 2008 – Lünendonk GmbH, Kaufbeuren, compared the leading German midmarket IT consulting companies for the first time and created a ranking. itelligence AG, one of the leading full-service IT providers for SAP, reached 4th place and thus belongs to the top group of midmarket IT consulting companies.

The basis of this new list is the company's 2007 business figures. It shows that the IT consulting industry experienced particularly strong growth in the past year. After analysis, Lünendonk feels that one of the reasons for the success was the strong economy in Germany. There is strong demand from midmarket companies in Germany and Europe for SAP solutions in particular. itelligence AG benefited from this in particular. Its revenues increased to MEUR 190.6 in 2007.

Herbert Vogel, CEO of itelligence AG, commented "I am happy that this ranking shows very clearly how successfully our industry is working, but naturally also the high commitment and success with which itelligence is represented in this market segment. We have grown strongly, not only in terms of total revenues and EBIT, but also in terms of employee numbers. Our consistent focus on the market-driven implementation of SAP solutions for midmarket companies is paying off and our largest group of customers is benefiting from our established knowledge of the industry and SAP."
