

itelligence AG launches road show in three cities in Germany Process optimization and cost reduction through state-of-the-art, mobile ERP

Bielefeld, July 5, 2005 – itelligence AG, Bielefeld, is launching an information road show dealing with the process optimization and cost savings that can be achieved by using mobile service solutions in field services. Consequently, the complete IT service provider in the SAP environment is inviting interested decision-makers to a business breakfast in three German cities.

The program will cover saving and process optimization potentials for service-oriented companies in the manufacturing and service industries, more efficient customer support, and applications planning procedures, and established practical solutions in respect of process cost reductions and savings in working capital.

The first business breakfast will start at 9:00 on July 20, 2005 in itelligence AG's offices at Lilienthalstraße 7 in Hallbergmoos. Further business breakfasts are scheduled for August 24 at itelligence's branch at Hammerbrookstraße 90 in Hamburg, and for September 1 at itelligence offices at Siegburger Strasse 229b in Cologne. itelligence is expecting IT managers, service managers, and decision-makers from the manufacturing, high-tech, and automobile industries to attend the business breakfasts, which are being provided free of charge.

According to Mark Albrecht, Director of Business Development at itelligence AG, "using modern technology makes it possible to reduce costly paper processes to a minimum and at the same time increase the transparency of processes."

itelligence can accept advance reservations by telephone on 0049 (0) 521/91448-404 or by e-mail at sales@itelligence.de
