

itelligence and GEDYS conclude sales cooperation agreement

Frankfurt, September 10, 2001 – The business division Lotus Notes Competence Center of the IT service provider itelligence AG and the producer of collaboration e-business products GEDYS Internet Products AG, Braunschweig, have concluded a cooperation agreement for the sale of GEDYS standard solutions. Joint customer projects have already been realized in Germany and abroad.

GEDYS develops and markets a broad range of collaboration e-business products on the basis of Lotus Notes/Domino for the support of customer relation management, employee and human resource management and quality and project management. The GEDYS products are used worldwide and are characterized in particular by high scalability and integration compatibility with SAP R/3. As part of the cooperation, itelligence as system integrator will be responsible for the implementation and customization of the GEDYS solutions.

itelligence's Lotus Notes Competence Center offers IT services for companies conducting a migration of their e-mail systems to Lotus Notes or the integration of Lotus Notes Office solutions into existing SAP systems. Due to the close partnerships with IBM and SAP, itelligence can bring comprehensive know-how in all of the essential product lines of the two market leaders into the cooperation.

"The desire for standard solutions and simple data maintenance is growing for both large and midsize customers. With itelligence as our partner, we can respond more quickly to the need for integrated, consistent collaboration e-business products," explains Ralf Geishauser, spokesperson for the Board of Management of GEDYS Internet Products AG.

"Frequently, the integration of the two platforms Lotus Notes and SAP R/3 is at the forefront of our customers' considerations. By cooperating with GEDYS, we can now offer software which joins the two systems well," according to Herbert Vogel, CEO of itelligence AG.
