itelligence AG: manufacturers' competent full-service provider for SAP

Frankfurt, April 3, 2003 - At the SAP partner booth (hall 6, booth K15) at Hannover Messe Industrie 2003, itelligence AG will present itself as an international full-service provider for SAP offering competent solutions for industrial companies. Two solutions, in particular, i.e. it.automotive supplier for the automotive supplier industry and it.engine for the mechanical engineering industry, will highlight the SAP system house's comprehensive experience with global projects.

it.automotive supplier targets both large corporations and mid-sized automotive suppliers. By supporting integrated supply chain management, itelligence's solution helps shorten development cycles and speed up communication between customers and suppliers. itelligence has extensive experience in the migration of data and implementation of SAP projects, including the highly complex introduction of SAP at automotive suppliers with a global network of branches.

it.engine reflects itelligence AG's many years of experience and sound understanding of the mechanical engineering industry. The realization of customer projects in this sector requires customized solutions and a high level of technical and organizational know-how. The continuous availability of data is another key competitive factor in the mechanical engineering sector. it.engine therefore builds on CAD integration and collaborative engineering, production and machine data acquisition as well as an Internet interface therefore ensure the constant availability of all necessary data.
